TENTATIVE REPORT CALLS FOR 9 CENTERS TO REPLACE PRESENT 173

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

NEWSMEN MEET.—Recently I took a couple of days off from work to attend a newsmen's convention. It was the National Editorial Association, of which The Semmler Newspapers is a member. It was an interesting convention. The men and women who attended did not go there for fun. It was the workingest convention I have ever attended.

PURPOSE.—The purpose of the convention largely was to improve weekly and small daily newspapers throughout the country. One editor, from 'way out west in Oregon, expressed it this way: "We have a duty to our readers to make the best newspaper we can. It is our duty to write the news so teachers can use the papers in the schools as examples of good English. It is our duty to be right, to report without bias, to be unprejudiced at all times, and obey all laws." His community is not large; town of 1,800; county of only 15,000 persons.

COSTS.—There was unanimous agreement by the more than 300 persons from 46 states that costs have gone up, 'way up. Labor is higher; newsprint is double the cost of a few years ago; materials used in job printing up more than 100 per cent. Yet the country newspaper people have got along on a little less profit to be "agreeable" with their neighbors. I was interested to learn that The Semmler Newspapers Press, job printing, is about 10 per cent under the national country printer prices.

POLITICS.—Most of the men and women attending the convention take no part in politics—at least not with their papers. Their papers are independent, and can tell any special interest to go to the devil, when asked for improper service. That's always been my habit, and I was glad to find, when I came to The Semmler Newspapers, that the same policy had long existed here under the Semmler family.

AMERICANISM.—Americanism, love for land, patient tolerance, resistance to those who would undermine this country and its institutions for the benefit of unholy ideologies—this theme was heard over and over throughout the three days of the convention. Fairness to labor, fairness to employers, was stressed. It was no place for a long-haired "reformer" of the kind that now sneaks around trying to poison the public mind. Even in many so-called "democracies" much of the language used in favor of Americanism would have at least landed speakers in the hoosegow.

SELFISHNESS.—I was disappointed in one of our speakers. He was Mr. Earl Bunting, president of the National Association of Manufacturers. He had humble beginnings, worked himself up the ladder. Even now, he is not one of the "big shots"—but big enough to be recognized by election to head a big business men's organization. He, however, confirmed in many minds that his association is too tight in its thought. He had a good subject, but his presentation seemed to be tainted with selfishness—too much "for mine" and not enough of "for all of us." That was in great contrast to another speaker, who may become President of the United States.

HAROLD STASSEN.—Not afraid to mix, not afraid to stand up in the open and be questioned, frank, sincere, this former governor of Minnesota may fool the old-line politicians next year. He thinks the Administration is not right in its dealings with Russia—thinks shipments should be shut off until Russia can be brought around to cooperate with other nations, until it stops waging war against the United States all over the globe. He freely answered questions about compulsory military service, objects to "state police" controls, wants sensible tax reduction, clean government fairness to labor and to business.

NO PRETENSE.—There was no pretense about Harold Stassen. He is not high-hat. He is not a big "I AM" politician. He would take to the White House, in event of election, a normal American viewpoint, an humble spirit, a determined character.

Meetings Planned To Get Opinions

Schools in New Lenox, Mokena, and Frankfort, along with all other schools in the area, would be united in one educational center under plans recommended by the Will county school survey committee in a tentative report made public last Saturday.

The report is not conclusive, it was stated, and County Superintendent Bottino stated that meetings in each of the proposed district will be held to fully discuss the problems raised before final recommendations are made.

Only after these meetings have been held and the committee has considered the opinion of the public, will a final report be compiled. At yesterday's meeting of the committee during which a final check of the printed report was made, it was agreed to attempt to have the final report completed by Jan. 1.

The present report, it was stated by Floyd Olson, was made because of uncertainty of the deadline set by law, one section calling for a deadline of January 1, 1948. The tentative report is to be sure that compliance is made with the law.

In the tentative report, it is suggested that the county's 173 elementary and high school districts be consolidated into nine community unit districts, a unit district being one with a seven-man board of education to govern and operate all schools from kindergarten through high schools.

Recommendations of interest to this area are as follows:
Lockport Community Unit district—to consist of the east two-thirds of DuPage township (Sections Nos. 1 thru 4, 9 thru 16; 21 thru 28; 33 thru 36 and all of Lockport township plus all of Homer township.)

Joliet Community Unit district to include all of Joliet township.
Peotone-Manhattan Community unit district—to consist of all of Manhattan, Green Garden, Wilton and Peotone townships and the west two-thirds of Wilton township. (Sections 3 thru 10; 15 thru 22, 27 thru 34.)

Crete-Beecher Community Unit district—to consist of all of Washington and Washington Fractional townships, all of Crete and Crete Fractional townships, all of Monee township and the east one-third of Will township (sections 1, 2, 11 thru 14; 23 thru 26 and 35 and 36.)

New Lenox-Mokena-Frankfort Community Unit district—to consist of all of New Lenox and Frankfort townships.

The completion of the tentative report by the survey committee is the result of a two-year study during which public meetings were held in each township, it was explained by Louis F. Bottino, county superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Anderson Visits In Ohio

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Anderson, Homer writer for The Semmler Newspapers, is in Ohio. But another Anderson, Mrs. Bruce Anderson, daughter-in-law of the Homer reporter, is supplying the news from the Homer area.

The Homer reporter went to Salem, Ohio, to be on hand when Mrs. Harold Drewe and the new baby arrived at the Drewe home from the hospital.

The Drewees are also well known in Orland and Palos communities, having lived at the Foundation in Palos. They were married here two years ago.

Homer Man Gets Building Permit

John M. Zinner, route 2, Lockport, Homer township, this week received from Ralph H. Newkirk county zoning officer, a permit to erect a residence at 151st street and Gougar road.

The cost of the building was estimated at $4,000, Mr. Zinner estimated, who informed the county zoning enforcing officer that he expects to erect other buildings here in the near future.

The enforcing officer called attention to the law requiring persons in areas outside of incorporated places to secure a permit from the zoning office before starting building operations. The office is on the fourth floor of the court house.

Miss Nielsen Marries

Miss Dorothy Nielsen, daughter of Mrs. John Nielsen, Mokena, and Mr. George Beirger of Chicago, were quietly married November 22 in Chicago.

The groom is in the army and is home on furlough for a short time. The bride will continue working at the Continental Casualty Insurance company, and will live with her mother.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

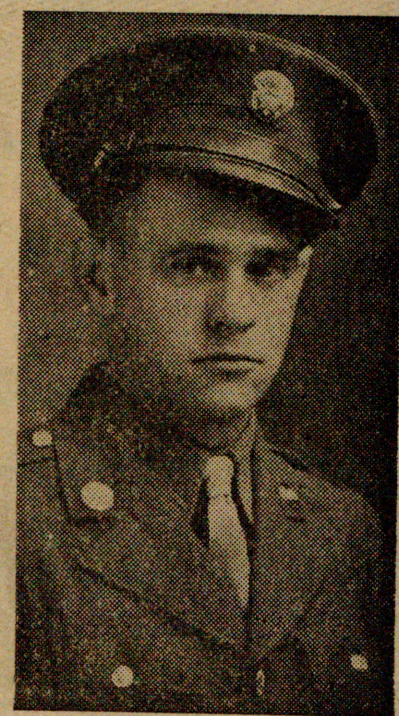

The regular monthly meeting of the Frankfort Fire department was held Monday, November 24, in the Frankfort village hall. At next month's meeting officers will be elected, it was stated.

MIDLOTHIAN BASKETBALL TEAMS BEATEN BY MOKENA AGGREGATIONS

BODY BROUGHT BACK HOME TO TINLEY PARK

Resting in St. Laurent-Baveux cemetery in France since June 10, 1944, the body of Pfc. Erwin Siebrandt of Tinley Park has been awaited several days by his next-of-kin, the Henry Siebrandt family, Tinley Park.

Caskets containing the bodies of deceased fighters returned from overseas arrived in New York last week and were expected in Chicago early this week. A guard of honor was expected with the body, to remain until final interment, which could not be determined until the arrival of the body.

Pfc. Siebrandt was born September 20, 1911, in the town of Rich, Cook county and lived on a farm near Tinley Park with his brothers. He worked in Chicago for Swift & Co. until entering the service.

He was inducted April 16, 1942, at Camp Grant, received his basic training in the infantry at Camp Forrest, Tenn., and his advanced training as an engineer at Brunswick, N. J. and Camp Pickett, Va., and on the last day of October that year was sent overseas as 1942.

He was in the invasion of Casablanca, French Morocco, and Tunisia. When the city of Bizerte in Tunisia fell his company was the first to enter that city. This ended the African campaign.

He then was sent with invasion forces to Sicily and was with the first landing. In December, 1943, he arrived in England. Here he was stationed until the invasion of France.

He was killed in action June 10, 1944, at the age of 32 years, 3 months, and 21 days. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Lucille Kloss, Mrs. Elsie Kuech, Mrs. Lorraine Eggert, and five brothers, Willmer, Clarence, Elmer, Norman, and Henry.

New Street Lights To Be Installed

Four new street lights are to be installed in Frankfort as soon as possible. Mayor George Sangmeister has announced. Two of the lights will be on Oak street near Ohio for the convenience of the employees of the Mold-I Rubber Co. The other two will be put in at two very bad corners, one at Kansas and White, and the other at Nebraska and Locust.

21,000 WILL COUNTY CHILDREN TO BE GIVEN HEARING AID

Examination of more than 21,000 children in Will County for subnormal hearing has been inaugurated under the supervision of the advisory committee on hearing conservation and rehabilitation.

Representatives of 10 institutions and agencies throughout the state are cooperating in the program, which will continue for approximately eight months. Individual audiometric examinations will be administered in all schools in the country. Previous programs in Joliet have used group testing machines.

All children found to have subnormal hearing will be directed to general physicians and otological specialists for care. Children who require specialized attention in the form of hearing-aid fitting, auditory training, and lip reading will be served through the educational agencies of Will county. The pilot hearing conservation and rehabilitation program has been organized to provide continuous follow-up care. It also will provide educational and vocational guidance for several years after the initial procedures have been completed. The program will be conducted with the active cooperation and support of the Will county department of health, county superintendent of schools, superintendent of Joliet schools, and the Will County Medical society.

The project will employ methods of case finding and will structure a clinical reeducation service program. The project will serve as a model for future programs in other counties of the state.

Highlighting the Lightweights were the Gwendling boys, Fritz and Don, and Jimmy Walsh who also played a brilliant game for Mokena while Summa of Midlothian led his team with 14 points.

Next Sunday, December 7 Mokena meets the strong Tinley Park teams.

Danger Months

The two most perilous months of the year for pedestrians in the Midwest are at hand, according to a special bulletin issued by Paul Van Cleef, president of the Greater Chicago safety council.

"Nearly one-fourth of all pedestrian accidents occur during November and December, and a higher percentage of pedestrian fatalities occur in December than any other type of accident," the bulletin stated.

The reasons for the high auto-pedestrian accident rate during this period are obvious, the bulletin points out, citing inclement weather, poor visibility, slippery streets, more hours of darkness, heavier and darker clothing worn by pedestrians, more shoppers, and increased activity in general, brought about by the holiday seasons.

Last year (1946) there were 40 persons killed in Chicago in November and 63 in December, or about 22 per cent of the year's automobile fatalities of 487 in the two-month period. Accidents totaled 1,578 for the month of November and 1,586 for the month of December, or 20 per cent of the year's total of 16,603. The number of persons injured for November and December, 1946, totaled 3,975, or 19 per cent of the year's total of 20,885.

The state of Delaware ranks high in the production of tomatoes, strawberries and fruits.

MISS KATHRYN A. MCKINLEY SUCCEEDS IN 10-YEAR EFFORT

The Common Things

I thank you, Lord, that long ago I learned to love the common things: Flowers that grow along the way, Tall leafy trees, a bird that sings. The sky at dawn a sunset's rosy glow, A rainbow's splendor arched across the sky; The curling smoke from one's hearth fire, A light at eventide, a baby's lullaby. I thank you, Lord, that these and many more Can mean so much And open wide the door That leads to Happiness.

—Elizabeth Bush.

Mrs. Kohlhaagen Makes Recovery

Mrs. F. J. Kohlhaagen, operated on in Chicago last week, was reported as doing fine and it was thought that she might leave the hospital some time this week.

The Frankfort news items have been missing from the papers since Mrs. Kohlhaagen went to the hospital, but will reappear next week. We will be happy when Mrs. Kohlhaagen is able to resume her activities.

Two Christmas Plays at Palos

"The Nativity," an adult and reverent presentation of the story of the Christ Child's birth, will be given by the Stevens Marionette theater Friday evening, December 19, at 8 o'clock at the Palos Park village hall.

This performance, sponsored jointly by the Palos Park and Palos Heights Women's clubs, is a dramatic and emotional portrayal presented with puppets by Martin and Olga Stevens, who operate the marionettes and speak all the parts.

Ticket chairman for the Palos Park club is Mrs. Thomas Hammer, and she is being assisted by Mrs. Maxwell May, Mrs. Emmet Gordon, and Mrs. Jerry Pech.

"Do You Believe In Santa Claus?" a Christmas operetta, will be presented by the Palos Singers in two performances Thursday, December 18, the first for the Palos Park Women's club Christmas party at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Pray and the second for Christmas party of the Palos public school at 8 p. m. at the village hall.

The Singers, who are sponsored by the Palos Park Women's club, will perform under the direction of Mrs. Rose Sattler Grimes and will be accompanied by Mrs. Doris Weber Essig at the piano.

Chest X-Ray Date Set For February

At the request of Frankfort school authorities, the chest x-ray program for Frankfort school and community has been set for the first week of February, 1948. The Will County T. B. association x-ray mobile unit, purchased from Christmas seal sale funds, will be stationed in Frankfort for one day.

The Will county health department technician and nurses will conduct the survey making possible a free chest x-ray to any who wish it. The exact date will be announced later.

HIGHWAY SIGN ASKED

The Frankfort village board requested that the state highway department put a sign on route 30 and 45 directing traffic to Frankfort.

Methodist Women Plan Yule Party

The annual Christmas party of the ladies of Mokena Methodist church has been set for Thursday, December 11, it was stated this week.

The party will be held at the home of Mrs. D. E. Rueckert. On the 13th, the ladies will hold a bake sale at Cooper and Hostert's, starting at 2 p. m.

Maue Achievement Club In Session

The Achievement club of the Maue school, district 138, met for its regular meeting Friday, November 21, at 2 o'clock.

"Something I like for Thanksgiving." New business consisted of appointing a new committee of eight upper grade pupils who will have charge of special entertainment for our Christmas program to be given December 19.

Another committee was appointed to help keep our school grounds neat.

Following the meeting light refreshments were served.—Marjorie Cole, Maue school reporter.

Presidents Arthur, Cleveland and Wilson were sons of ministers.

Wedding Bells To Follow Soon

After 10 years of trying, Miss Anne McKinley of Frankfort township has achieved her ambition—to win a championship in the International Livestock Exposition junior exposition.

Saturday her 10-year perseverance was awarded with top spot with her Hereford steer, named "Champ," by the young lady, who apparently had decided in advance that this was the year for success.

And it was the last chance, too, for Miss McKinley is nearly 21, and this was her last chance to win in the junior group.

The winner of the steer championship lives with her parents on the James Hunter farm, about two miles from Frankfort, where the family has lived about two years. The young lady is a member of the New Lenox 4-H club, of which Fred Francis is the leader.

This is the second winner in the club, a Chester Ebert steer winning in 1939. He, too, was a member of Mr. Francis' New Lenox 4-H club. Wayne Churchill, farm adviser, stated that this is also the second time in the history of the junior feeding contests in Chicago that Will county has had a champion steer.

In addition to winning the championship with her steer, Miss McKinley announced her engagement to 22-year-old Leslie Cornwell of Elgin, former 4-H member. They met at the 1945 Chicago Market Fat Stock show, when she led a steer into the same pen where the young man had his Angus calf.

A wedding date has not been announced, but their plans are made—they're to rent a farm and raise beef cattle.

Hopman Expands Business Lines

Melvin Hopman of the H. & S. Feed store last week announced the forthcoming opening of a new food store in Tinley Park. He is to be associated with Eugene Weselowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weselowski of Tinley, who will have charge of the market.

Mr. Hopman, it was stated, will direct the Royal Blue store which he is opening in the newly renovated space in the H. & S. building. He has been associated with the feed store for many years, except for the time he spent in the army.

Mr. Weselowski was at one time with Chuck's market and was for 12 years with one of the large chain groups. He served in the air corps during the war. Opening day is to be Friday of this week.

Prebridal Shower

Honoring Miss Bernice Schmuhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Schmuhl of Frankfort, who will become the bride of Warren Johnson of Chicago, a miscellaneous shower was given in the Frankfort village hall Sunday afternoon.

The hostesses were her cousin, Miss Elaine Spiess of Mokena, Mrs. Mable Anderson of Chicago, and sisters, Mrs. Harold Ullrich, Mrs. Howard Kline, Mrs. Arthur Kampe, and Miss Gladys Schmuhl.

The hall was prettily decorated in the chosen colors of the bride-to-be, green and old rose. The 35 guests played games. Many lovely gifts were presented the honored guest.

The wedding will take place Saturday evening, December 6, in St. Peter's Evangelical church, Frankfort, at 7 o'clock. A wedding reception will be held in the church dining room following the service.

Edgar H. Stelter Back From Cruise

Edgar H. Stelter, electronic technician's mate, second class, son of Mrs. Herman W. Stelter of 171 street, Tinley Park has returned to the United States from Europe and Asia aboard the huge aircraft carrier USS Leyte, on which he served as a member of the engineering department.

Not a single serious mishap has occurred during the lengthy cruise. The engineers provide the floating city with more than three times as much electricity as is generated in the city of Izmir, Turkey, one of the ports visited by the Leyte's crew.

At full power the Leyte's main plant can send the ship's 33,000 tons racing through the water at speeds in excess of 35 miles an hour.

Investiture Set

An investiture program for Mokena Girl Scouts and Brownies has been announced for Sunday, December 14. The program will be held in Mokena school auditorium at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Lake Superior is the largest fresh water lake in the world.

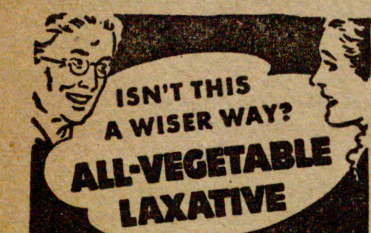

That's the Idea

During a recent New York visit, the great British architect, Sir Edw. Lutyens inspected the spectacular Wrigley sign on Broadway in company with chewing gum executive. The Wrigley man kept up a running line of chatter. "It's the largest sign in the world," he said, and gave dimensions.

Sir Edw. nodded. "It has the largest automatic switchboard in the world," he added.

"No doubt," Sir Edw. said. The Wrigley man felt that Sir Edw. wasn't getting the point, so he regaled Sir Edw. with all sorts of detailed statistics about the sign's vast weight, candle power, etc.

"It's very nice," Sir Edw. said, "but isn't it a bit obtrusive?"

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

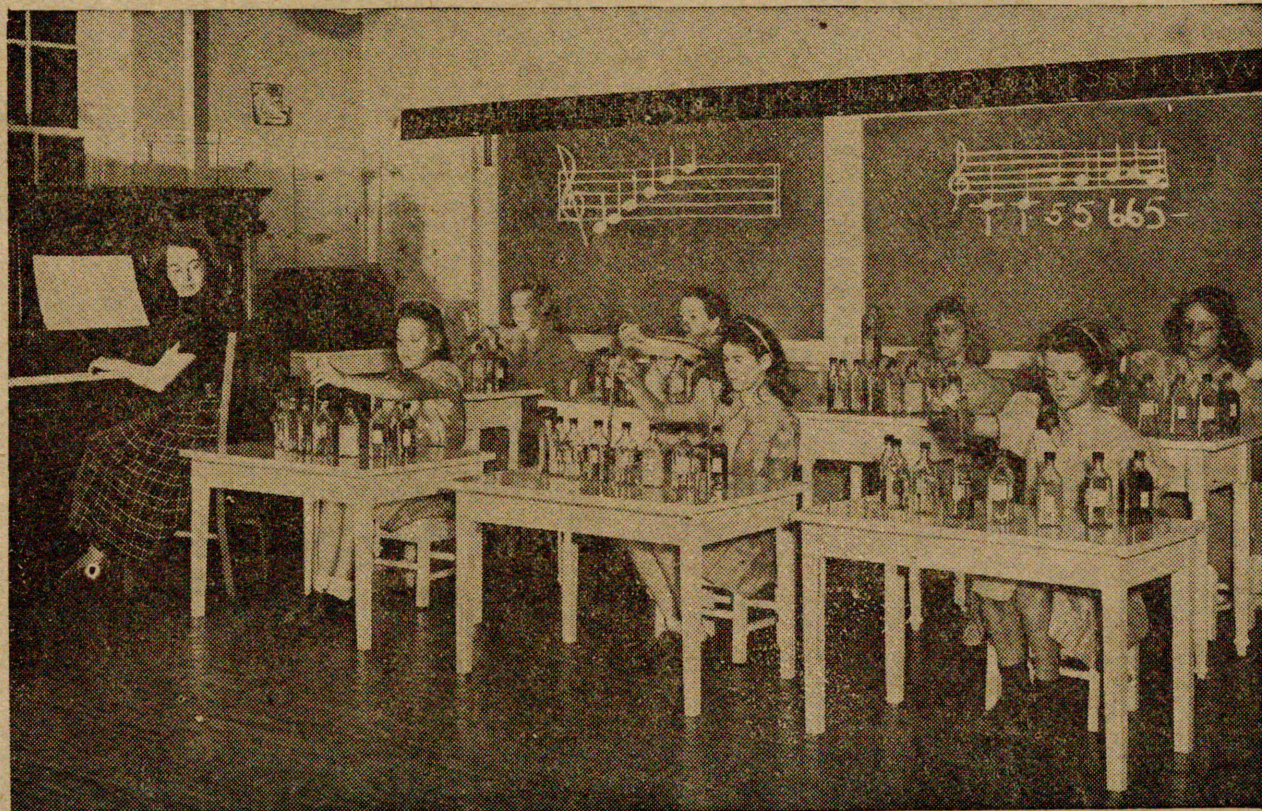

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

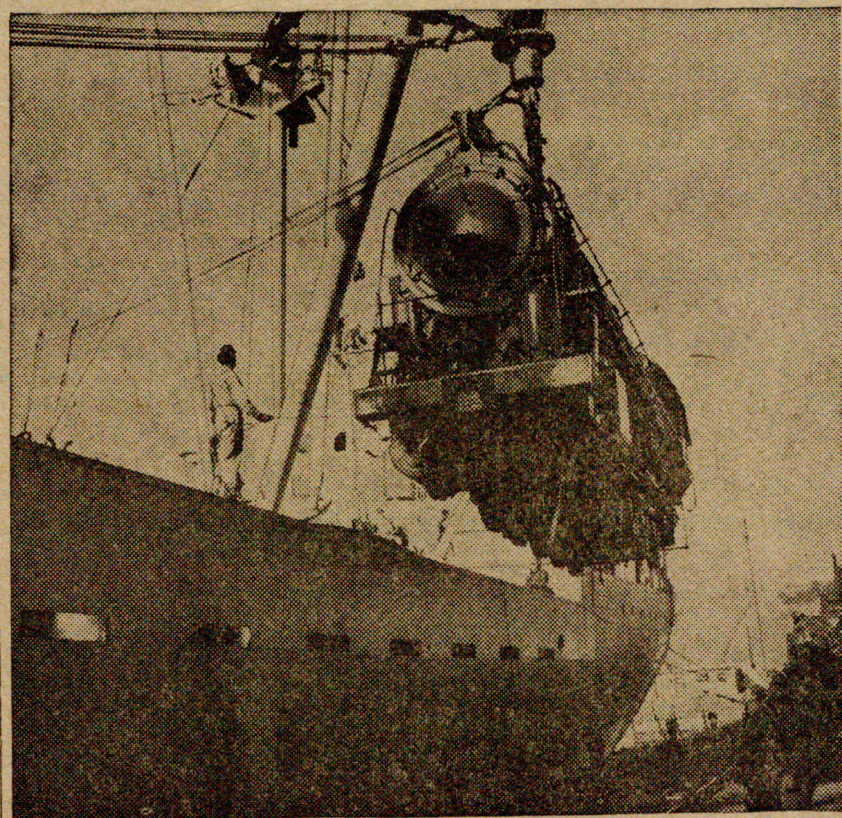

DOAN'S PILLS

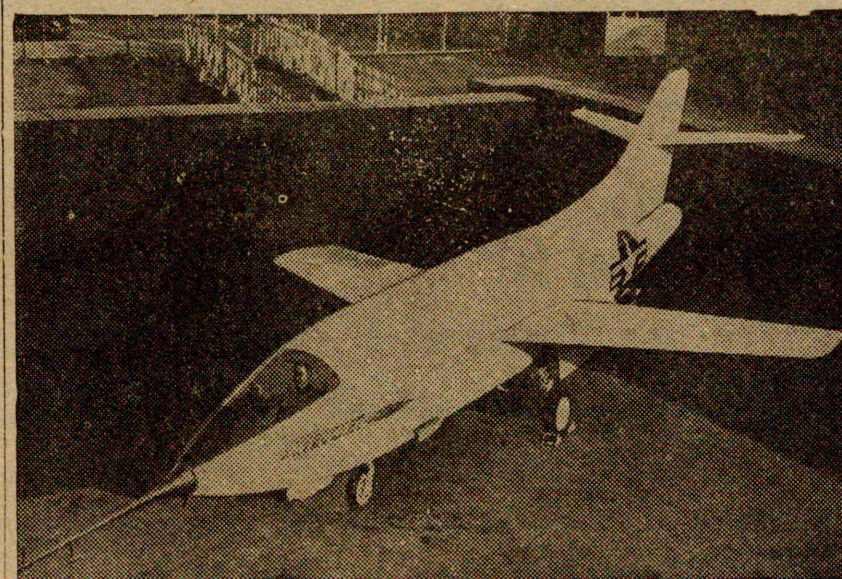

BLESSING THE HUNTERS . . . Despite the colorful costumes and air of pageantry, this is not a scene from a Hollywood movie. It's authentic. A priest is pronouncing the benediction over a covey of hunters and their hounds in front of the chapel of Sainte-Marguerite des Gres prior to the start of a deer hunt in Chantilly forest near Paris, France. In the group at the right is Lady Diana Cooper, wife of the British ambassador to Paris, who will have to cry "Tally ho!" in French, if that's possible.

HITTING THE BOTTLE . . . Students of St. Mary's Hall girls school in Burlington, N. J., take their first lessons in music by "hitting the bottle"—tapping bottles filled with various levels with colored waters. Progress is faster than with the ordinary book learning method, says their instructor, Miss Cope McWhinney, shown playing accompaniment on the piano. Each bottle carries the position of the note on the staff as a starter for reading music.

IRON HORSE FOR EUROPE . . . Crushed and broken Europe, more than two years after the war's end, still is striving to rebuild. With the aid of American equipment the torn continent is being reshaped. Here, a 115-ton engine is hoisted into the hold of the S. S. Beljeanne at the Erie railroad yards, Weehawken, N. J. The iron monster is part of a shipment of 29 rail locomotives being sent to Poland to restore that nation's war blasted rolling stock. One of the hardest hit of all European nations, postwar Poland found herself trying to reconstruct with her transportation system virtually in a state of total paralysis.

NAVY'S FASTEST . . . This is the first photo of the U. S. navy's Douglas D-558-2, "Skyrocket," a rocket and jet-propelled plane with acutely swept-back wings and tail, needle nose and tapered fuselage. Slated to join the Douglas Skyrocket in navy's sonic speed experiments, the plane is expected to perform in the 650-750 miles-per-hour range. Speed of sound varies from 763 miles per hour at sea level to 660 at higher altitudes.

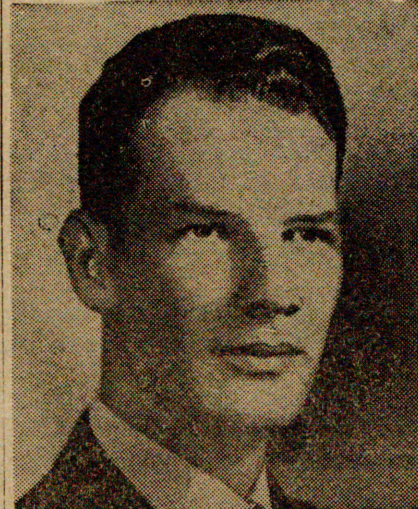

PEN STRIPES . . . J. Fred Munnell, manager of the Michigan prison industries, admitted having prison inmates make him this drape shape, complete with flat hat, for a masquerade where a zoot suit wouldn't be out of place.

LEAKAGE OF THE BUDGET . . . Hugh Dalton, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, resigned that position after admitting that he had given advance information of his budget speech to a London newspaper reporter. Sir Stafford Cripps succeeds him.

MADE IT . . . Among the recent arrivals in Washington to attend the special session of congress was Sen. Glen H. Taylor (Dem., Idaho) who came in on a horse after completing his cross-country ride from California. The poor man's Paul Revere pulled the stunt as an objection to U. S. foreign policy.

HE'S THE YOUNGEST . . . Dr. Samuel D. Marble, 31 years old, automatically became the youngest college president in the United States when he was inaugurated as president of Wilmington college, Wilmington, Ohio.

SIGHT FOR SORE EYES . . . Now the people booming Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for president in 1948 are trying to give the general that new look. Kay Comiskey of New York wears the sentiment on her sunglasses.

SYMPHONIC GIFT . . . Dr. Jury Arbatsky, young Russian composer and former student of Rachmaninoff, is reported to have dedicated a symphony to Princess Elizabeth of England as a wedding gift. But no one knows for sure.

IRONWOMAN . . . Frankie Groves 16, Stinnett, Tex., high school junior, played her first honest-to-gosh football game against the Groom, Tex., team. The other 21 players were boys but Tackle Frankie did fine.

THE FICTION CORNER

MASQUERADE

By ESTHER AND WARREN HALL

JANET'S lips opened in a soundless exclamation. Dred! Swiftly, in one breath-taking instant, all her mingled memories of Dred Cummings merged and rushed to meet him as he came across the Waldorf lobby. He was older — six years older, Janet reckoned quickly—and his face was burgeoning slightly with the subtle promise of another chin. But he still wore his custom-made charm as debonairly as his well-tailored clothes.

Janet flicked down her glove and looked at her watch. Three twenty-five. This certainly was no time to be renewing the past. She leaned back in her chair and turned as though to speak to the small boy standing at her elbow. Perhaps Dred wouldn't recognize her. Perhaps he wouldn't even see her and Geoff.

"Janet, light of my life!" Somehow she managed a casual smile. "Gracious," she said lightly, "it must be old-home week. How are you, Dred?"

He grasped her outstretched hand and held it, for a moment, between both of his. The Cummings' technique. She could remember how that ardent pressure had thrilled her the first time they met, and how hollow it had seemed the day they parted, the day she was leaving for Reno.

"I swear," he said, "you're prettier than ever—if that's possible. But of course, dolls never age, do they—particularly Dresden dolls with spun-gold hair and the bluest china eyes in the world. And that's what you were, you know. The little Dresden doll I brought to life."

"It was kind of you," Janet told him. "Let there be life and there was life. I should be eternally grateful."

She wasn't bitter about it now. Not very bitter, anyhow. But he must never guess her desolation when she first realized that other women were as indispensable to Dred Cummings as his brushes and palette. He must never know his memory had left a pall that not even little Geoff's sunny affection nor his father's kindness could dispel.

"Come, come, my dear," he was saying. "That's hardly fair. I wish you'd pose for me again. Just once. Do you know, since our divorce I've hardly been able to touch a brush to canvas."

"Except for that one-man exhibition at the Anderson Galleries," Janet said wryly, "and those murals at the fair and . . ."

"Oh, I suppose I've managed to struggle along," he agreed. "But how about you?" For the first time he noticed Geoff. "Why, Janet! You haven't . . . this isn't . . ."

Janet hesitated. The flush on her cheeks deepened. "This is my job," she said, reaching out and hugging Geoff close to her side. "Did you expect me to go into a convent?"

Cummings studied the boy a moment. "You're a handsome little fellow, at that," he admitted grudgingly. "How old are you?"

"I'll be five tomorrow," Geoff boasted. "That's why Daddy's going to meet us here. He's going to buy me a fire engine, the biggest one in the biggest store in New York."

"Five," Cummings reflected aloud. "I must say, Jan, that isn't very flattering. You waited just about long enough for the ink to dry on the decree. What's your name, son?"

"I'm Geoffrey G. Huxley Jr.," Geoff said.

Somehow she managed a casual smile. "Gracious," she said lightly, "it must be old-home week."

Cummings whistled softly. "THE Geoffrey G. Huxley? Standard Oil Huxley? You did pretty well, Jan."

Janet nodded. Yes, she'd done pretty well, up to now. But any minute . . . She rose quickly.

"I mustn't keep you Dred. It's been nice seeing you again, almost like having a lock of your hair. I . . ." Her voice trailed off. She might have known. Geoffrey G. Huxley Sr., big, hearty and perennially ruffled, was striding toward them, an eager grin on his tanned face.

"Hello, son." He stooped and tousled the boy's hair affectionately. "Hope I haven't kept you waiting long," he said to Janet. She shook her head and raised her hands in a slight, helpless gesture. "Mr. Cummings—Mr. Huxley."

"Dred Cummings?" Huxley asked with obvious interest.

The other man nodded. "That's right. Your wife has told you about me, I suppose."

Huxley glanced at Janet's strained face. "The papers have been full of those murals of yours," he said easily.

Janet stood very still, listening to their conversation, watching their faces. Dispassionately she noted Dred's conceit, his pomposity. He was, suddenly, a stranger who should be on his way, leaving her where she belonged with Geoff and the man she knew now she loved.

"You've taken awfully good care of Jan," she heard Cummings say. "She never looked better, not even when she was Mrs. Cummings."

"Well, we try to keep her happy," Huxley responded, smiling warmly at Janet. "Don't we, Geoff?"

"They are good to me," Janet said, and her voice was suddenly husky. Geoff slipped his hand into hers. "How about my present?" he wanted to know.

"True enough," Cummings put in. "I mustn't get in the way of a fire engine. And I'll leave you, sir, to guard an old flame. Goodbye, Janet."

He pressed her hand a moment and was gone.

Janet turned to Huxley. "I'm sorry," she said wearily. "I didn't try to . . . to . . ."

"To pretend you were Geoffrey's mother instead of his governess," he finished for her. "I realize that, Janet. But if you only knew how long I've been pretending exactly that. Besides, if I were a little boy who had been motherless since the day he was born, I'm sure I'd like a mother for a birthday present almost as well as a fire engine. Perhaps, if you approve, we can give Geoff both."

Stassen at Best On Labor Issues

WHERE I STAND
By Harold E. Stassen
(Doubleday—205 p., $2)
By Bill Schoentgen

In an age of quasi-literate politicians, Mr. Stassen, the determined candidate for Republican presidential nomination, has tugged at the bootstraps of his social consciousness and raised himself above the hurly-burly of the vote-getting mob to the rare level of a forthright political thinker who takes as his ken his own national society.

The former governor of Minnesota attempts no probing into the intricacies of foreign policy and makes no bones about admitting it. His thesis is that once a sound, forward-looking domestic organization has been achieved, an equally constructive foreign policy may be worked out from that basis. This is not to say that the lack of an expression on foreign policy is not felt in Mr. Stassen's book. It is one of the shortcomings.

More important, Stassen's lethargic estimate of foreign policy, his relegation of it to a secondary position, his failure even to touch upon the voluminous subject of foreign aid, all would seem to indicate a preference for a kind of tolerant, elastic nationalism. Whether or not this is the right time for the emergence of a strong nationalistic philosophy in the United States is a topic which is being subjected to universal debate. The man from Minnesota consistently refrains, in his book, from entering the discussion. It is an omission which undoubtedly will be brought piercingly to his attention by his more antagonistic colleagues.

But it is in the area of labor problems and labor legislation that the writer is most confident of his ground. In a single monolithic chapter he dissects and analyzes the varying status of the United States labor movement from 1920 to 1947, and nails down with a hammer of unadorned realism its inevitable relation to the prosperity and soundness of the entire economy.

Stassen offers his theories on labor in the form of the testimony which he presented before the senate labor committee in February of this year, during the period when congress was preparing the legislation which ultimately resulted in the Taft-Hartley act.

That law, he believes, "will be the foundation for a fair, just and well balanced labor policy in America." In total, Stassen approves of the act. Specifically, he is opposed to three portions of the law as it stands: (1) The provision making it unlawful for a labor organization to contribute to election funds; (2) the non-Communist affidavit rule; (3) the "ultimatum" stipulating that existing union shop contracts cannot be renewed unless and until an election is held and a majority of all employees votes in the affirmative.

For the rest of his platform, Stassen turns to the issues of taxation (with which he deals from the standpoint of "dynamic capital"), housing, survival of small business and the paucity of medical care and hospital facilities. To each of these he brings an application of the classic Republican theory of laissez faire and damns heartily all efforts to give the federal government greater control in those fields.

Reptile Hunt Sport

When a chamber of commerce in Arizona advertises attractions of the state, one of the major claims of distinction is apt to be overlooked. This is the superb rattlesnake fauna—and the latest thing in sports, snake hunting. No other area of the earth boasts 12 different kinds of rattlesnakes, and the only areas that even compete are adjacent New Mexico, southern California and northern Mexico.

Making Laminated Wood

Laminated wood is made by gluing together layers of wood with the grain of all layers running in the same general direction. Thus, a large beam can be formed by joining a number of small pieces. The advantage of this development in wood technology is manifest when it is considered that until the development of lamination, no beam could be bigger than the tree from which it was cut.

World Farm Supplies

An important item that came before the FAO conference at Geneva, Switzerland, concerned the steps to be taken before the 1948 harvest to supply farmers throughout the world with more fertilizers, pesticides and farm machinery. A special committee is studying the matter to determine the requirements of the various countries and suggest methods of meeting them.

Lights on Trains

The first train fully equipped with electric lights was the Pennsylvania Limited, placed in service in June, 1887, between Chicago and New York. Steam from the engine was carried to a turbine in the forward compartment of the baggage car where it drove an electric generator supplying current to the entire train.

Talks With His Tail

The giraffe, one of the strangest animals, has no vocal chords, but talks with his tail. He has fewer vertebrae in his neck than a mouse, is faster than a horse, can go longer without water than a camel and can see backwards without turning his head.

Flax Has Ancient History

Flax, from the seed of which linseed oil is made, is one of the most important materials used in the manufacture of paint, and also important in the linoleum and other industries. It was a cultivated plant as far back as biblical times. In the early days it was grown for its fiber, and this is still the case in some flax-growing areas, for the making of linens. However, today flax is grown chiefly for production of seed to be crushed for oil.

Something Like an Ostrich

The legends of the great Roc of Arabian mythology, which could pick up an elephant and fly off with it, probably were based on the aepyornis of Madagascar. The aepyornis became extinct in comparatively recent times. Scientists believe the bird was 10 or more feet tall and much like the ostrich. It had powerful legs and was a speedy runner, but it could not fly. Its eggs have the capacity of three ostrich eggs.

Power on the Farm

Approximately three million tractors are doing the work on American farms today. Shortly before the war there were about one and one-half million tractors on farms in the United States. In 1930, about one million farmers used tractor power. Economists of the U. S. department of agriculture say that tractors are going to replace horses and mules at an accelerated rate.

Many Billiard Shots

There are 63 quadrillion ways of making billiard shots, according to calculations of Prof. Frank G. Dickinson, University of Illinois. He has stated that if a man could make a different shot every second and played 24 hours every day, it would take him more than two billion years to execute every possible billiard shot.

Sugar Saves Furniture

Homemakers will be interested in reports concerning a new substance for "sugar coating" furniture. The new product is allyl sucrose, a heavy, pale liquid which can be used as a coating for furniture and interior surfaces.

Tree Planters' State

Nebraska was named the "Tree Planters' state" by act of legislature in 1895 because Arbor Day was originated there by J. Sterling Morton and because forestry was emphasized by its pioneers and their successors, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica. The name "Nebraska" itself, suggested by Fremont in 1845, was derived from the Ojibwa Indian name for the Platte river—"Ne-brath-ka," meaning "Shallow Water."

Just an Old Wind-Bag

If you think you're using modern slang when you call someone an old "wind-bag," you're wrong. Aeolus was the father of the winds in Greek mythology. World Book encyclopedia says he kept the wind in bags and loosed them according to his whims. Sometimes he released gentle winds to help sailors on their way. Sometimes he let out fierce ones to create great storms. The term "wind-bag" came from this ancient legend.

First Balloon Passengers

First passengers ever to ride in a balloon were a duck, a rooster and a sheep. They were placed in the basket under a paper-lined cloth bag filled with hot air and sent aloft by the Montgolfier brothers in France in 1793, according to World Book encyclopedia. The flight lasted eight minutes and the animals landed safely.

Drinking Cup for Bossy

A new development for the farm is an electrically heated, thermostatically controlled drinking cup. Similar to the familiar drinking cup in a dairy barn, it is housed in a metal cylinder 12 inches in diameter and 4 feet long. It can be buried in the ground at the right depth for use by stock. One cup will serve 10 or more cows.

Naval Stores Volume

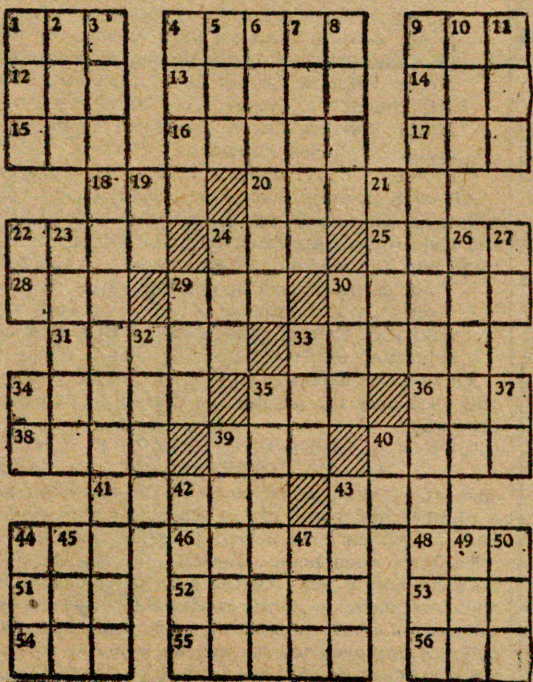

The naval stores industry represents an annual income to Georgia varying from a low of $7,500,000 in 1932 to as much as $23,500,000 in 1945. It annually employs about 20,000 to 25,000 people who work approximately 40,000,000 longleaf and slash pine faces yearly.

"I just saw the New—
Frigidaire
Fully Automatic Washer
—with 'Live-Water' action!"

Takes all the work out
of washing:

- Fills and empties automatically.
- Washes 8 lbs. of clothes in less than a half-hour; cleaner, whiter.
- Gives two deep rinses with "Live-Water" action.
- Spins clothes damp dry.
- Self-balancing — needs no bolting down.
- Self-cleaning — porcelain inside and out.
- Can be hand-controlled for special jobs.

No wonder she's floating on a cloud. She's just seen the kind of automatic washer housewives dream about. But it's not a dream any more. Frigidaire has it in production now! . . . and earliest orders will get earliest deliveries. With the Frigidaire Fully Automatic Washer all you do is put in clothes and soap, set the dial and forget it! Why, your hands don't even touch water! And clothes come out cleaner, whiter, drier. That's really carefree washing.

Come in! See it Demonstrated!

You KNOW this isn't safe . . .

And neither is defective wiring!

YOU wouldn't think of giving a child a loaded gun for a plaything. But you may have electrical appliances in your home that are equally dangerous. You can't always see the defective wiring in lamps, toasters, irons, or grills—the danger may lie in faulty inside wiring.

Be sure that appliances you buy are top quality. Have a qualified electrician check the appliances and electric cords in your home today. When you see a frayed extension cord—discard it and replace it with a new one of good quality. Watch for broken sockets and wall plugs. Have an electrician inspect your appliances—be on the alert yourself—and be safe!

High Taxes Boost Prices

THE following is from the vox pop columns of a Los Angeles paper:

Regarding the complaint made by various unions about the high cost of food, I wish to submit this farmer's viewpoint:

For one fat hog we can get a carpenter for two days and he sharpens his tools on our time besides.

This hog requires 11 months from breeding time to selling time and plenty of feed, care and risk.

For one fat lamb plus $3 we can get a plasterer for six hours.

For the eggs from 720 hens in one day plus $3.60 we can hire a painter for eight hours. That is figuring eggs at 72 cents and $25 a day which painters want.

For one 14-month-old steer (23 months from breeding date) at 25 cents a pound we can get 10 pieces of 1 by 12 inch board 10 feet long, second quality. We have to feed and entertain the cow and calf for 23 months.

For four good cows a friend got an osteopath to deliver his wife's baby. This did not include hospital fees.

For 12 fat hens a neighbor got a tooth pulled.

I am not trying to be funny, just giving you facts and can furnish many more.

The President wants to economize. All right, just start at the top and come down and he'll find us on the bottom.

Fred Lee,
Pomona, Calif.

I could not, if I wished, dispute the figures of that farmer contributor. I do not hold a brief for the $25 a day the plasterer is credited with receiving, but does not; or the $1 a pound he pays for bacon, and which the farmer does not receive. But—"the pot calling the kettle black" does not uncover the real culprit or does not provide a remedy for excessive prices.

We Americans pay approximately one and a half times as much for government as we pay to eat.

Reduce government expenditures; curb the gun-toting tax collector, and we will have solved much of the problem of high prices. Profligate, extravagant, wasteful government is the culprit.

We do not realize the taxes we are paying. They are purposely covered up by every tax levying and tax spending government, local, state or federal. Those who cover up point the finger of guilt at the farmer or at the worker as being responsible for our price troubles.

LEVIES BOOST COST.

For that pound of bacon, for which the plasterer paid $1, the farmer received 30 cents, less the taxes he paid on his farm, on the transportation of the bacon to market, and any profit he may have made on the hog. Between the farm and that plasterer's breakfast table, that pound of bacon passed through many hands, and each one who touched it was assessed a tax. There was a multiplicity of taxes, all of which were, of necessity, added as parts of the price the plasterer must pay.

On the other hand, the plasterer pays, not one, but several taxes on what he receives as wages. To cover the cost of those several taxes and the cost of the taxes on the bacon he buys, he demands more wages. More wages mean higher costs for what he produces, with more to go for taxes. Back along much the same road as that traveled by the pound of bacon, goes the product of the plasterer to the farmer, and the farmer pays the multiplicity of taxes that have accumulated along the way.

Our excessive prices are caused largely by the extravagant and wasteful costs of bureaucracy at Washington, in our state capitols and our county and municipal buildings. It is the tax on tax, and tax again to cover the ever expanding expenditures of our elected officials, whose every thought seems to be on how to get more money, and how to cover the getting.

We, the voters of the nation, can collectively stop the operation of the vicious system when, and if, we wish. We can demand a simplified form of tax levying, so we will know the exact amount of taxes each one pays.

As it is now we are wasting our time and our energies in each pot calling each kettle black and permitting the real culprit to get away with the loot.

It is not efficiency that regulates the salaries of bureau chiefs in Washington. If one becomes so proficient that he performs the work of his bureau with a decreased number of employees he is compensated by a cut in his own salary. To get a raise automatically he has only to add names to his payroll, whether or not more employees are needed. He is paid on the basis of the number employed. That is not good business, but it is considered good politics.

Income Ceilings Hurt OJT

Ceilings on income clamped on Veterans' administration job-training program by the last congress, adopted in August, 1946, have steadily driven war veterans out of the program until at the present time there are only approximately 564,000 taking the training as compared to 632,000 last January.

The limitations which provided that earned income plus subsistence should not exceed $175 a month for a veteran without dependents and $200 for a veteran with dependents affected the job training program in several ways, VA says.

Some veterans dropped out to take other jobs at salaries greater than their new total income as trainees; others, to preserve their eligibility for possible future use, dropped from the G.I. rolls, but continued their job training under independent training programs set up by their employers, and others decided not to take the job training program at all. Limiting all job training other than apprentice training to two-year programs was another factor causing the whole program to decline. So the net results are that the number of veterans dropping out of the program since the first of the year has exceeded the number entering training during the same period.

Questions and Answers

Q. Can you tell me if disability rates payable by Veterans' administration are the same for wartime and peacetime, both in the case of injury and death benefits?—A. L. LaF., Anadarko, Okla.

A. Veterans' administration says that wartime rates are higher than peacetime rates for comparable disabilities. The same is true of death benefits. Generally, to be compensable at wartime rates, the death, disability or aggravation of injury upon which a claim is based must have occurred between December 7, 1941, and July 25, 1947, both dates inclusive. However, the person must have served during the war period to noon December 31, 1946, and the disability or death on which the claim is based must have occurred before July 25, 1947. December 31, 1946, is the date the President proclaimed the end of hostilities and July 25 is the date by which congress officially terminated end of the war for certain purposes.

Q. My nephew was killed in action during the war. He was an orphan and I raised him and cared for him from the time he was 10 years old. My question is would I be entitled to a pension as a result of his death? Some of my friends have told me that I am entitled to it. — Mrs. A. J. M., Malden, Mo.

A. If you can prove that you stood in loco parentis for a period of not less than one year prior to the time he entered the military service, it is likely that you would be entitled to a parent's pension for the death of your nephew. Consult an attorney or the nearest office of Veterans' administration. Your local post of the American Legion or Veterans of Foreign Wars might help you present your case.

Q. Have tried everywhere to locate my brother-in-law. The last we heard from him was two years ago. His address then was T-5 P.J.B., 31303212—39490 QMT-RK co., APO 272, Postmaster N. Y. Can you tell us how to go about locating him?—Mrs. C. H. O., Castana, Iowa.

A. Address a letter to "Commanding officer" or to "chaplain" of 39490 QMT-RK Co., APO 272, Postmaster, N. Y., giving your brother-in-law's name, serial number and all information you have concerning him. If you do not receive a reply, write to Office of the Adjutant General, Department of the Army, Washington D. C., and give them all available information.

Q. I have been drawing a disability compensation for about eight months and am wondering if this money is taxable under the income tax law. Please advise me.—J. R. L., Clear Lake, S. D.

A. No it is not taxable and it is unnecessary to show either pension or compensation payments on your income tax report.

Q. Four years ago, after 22 years of marriage, my husband, a World War I veteran, deserted me. Recently I obtained a divorce and was awarded alimony. Upon his death would I be eligible to a pension by reason of his service?—Mrs. M. L., Muscoda, Wis.

A. You would not be entitled to pension unless the separation or divorce was due to misconduct of or was procured by your husband through no fault of your own. Remarriage also would cancel your right to a pension. Suggest you consult an attorney.

Sunday School Lesson
By LOBBIE D. NEWTON, D.D.

SCRIPTURE: III John.
DEVOTIONAL READING: I Corinthians 1:10-17.

Christian Fellowship

Lesson for December 7, 1947

SUNDAY'S lesson is based on the short third Epistle of John. You can read it in two minutes, but you will not exhaust its meaning in a lifetime. Link with III John the devotional reading found in First Corinthians 1:10-17, and you have a great and glorious picture of Christian fellowship. Note these words:

"Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same things, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment." I Corinthians 1:10.

And these words from III John, second verse:

"Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth."

Here we have the basis for Christian fellowship.

Let Us Love One Another

WHAT is the first test of Christian fellowship? Read I John 4:7.

Love one for another is the first and last test of Christian fellowship. Of course, love one for another is dependent upon love toward God. We do not really love one another until we first love God. And we do not love God until we realize that he first loves us.

Why do we keep certain letters? Because they are from those who love us, and whom we love. Boys and girls can help to make this a better world if they will express their love one for another in letters.

Gracious Words

IN ECCLESIASTES 10:12, we read: "The words of a wise man's mouth are gracious."

Christmas will soon be here. There will be many Christmas cards and Christmas letters. Let us think carefully of some lonely boy or girl in our community who may not receive such a message unless you send it.

More than that, think of the lonely boy or girl in the hospital, in the orphan home, in the underprivileged tenement. Think what a letter from you to such a lonely neighbor would mean!

Doing Good

CHRISTIAN fellowship, in the last analysis, is doing good. "He that doeth good is of God," says John, and we know that it is true. Intermediate boys and girls can seize upon numerous methods of proving their Christian attitude as we come on toward the Christmas season. Discuss with your teacher next Sunday the idea of providing Christmas gifts for underprivileged boys and girls of your age. If not in your community, somewhere.

While in Europe last summer, I was impressed with the fact that there will be very little Christmas for the young people in many of those lands this year. War has left its frightening desolation. The people are without money and without homes and without clothing and without food.

May I suggest that you discuss plans by which you may send packages through CARE to some lonely, needy neighbor in Europe this Christmas, thus proving your sense of Christian fellowship.

Furthering the Gospel

AS WE grasp more fully the meaning of this lesson next Sunday, our hearts will gladly respond to the opportunities for furthering the Gospel of Jesus Christ, even as Gaius and Demetrius impressed John.

In every community are crying needs for Christian ministry. Your newspapers will be telling of special opportunities for Christmas help. Your Community Fund chairman can give you names of worthy neighbors who need help.

"I thank God for your fellowship in furtherance of the Gospel from the first day until now," wrote Paul to the Philippian Christians.

How did they show this fellowship? In many, many practical ways, some of which Paul names. They sent food, books, clothing. More than that, they gave themselves in personal visitation to lonely friends. They cheered the faint.

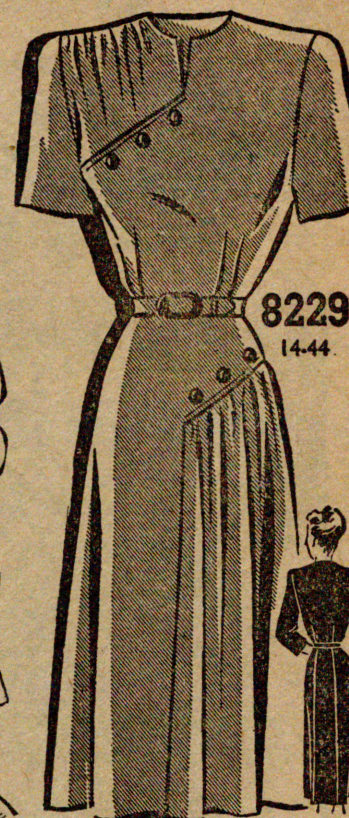

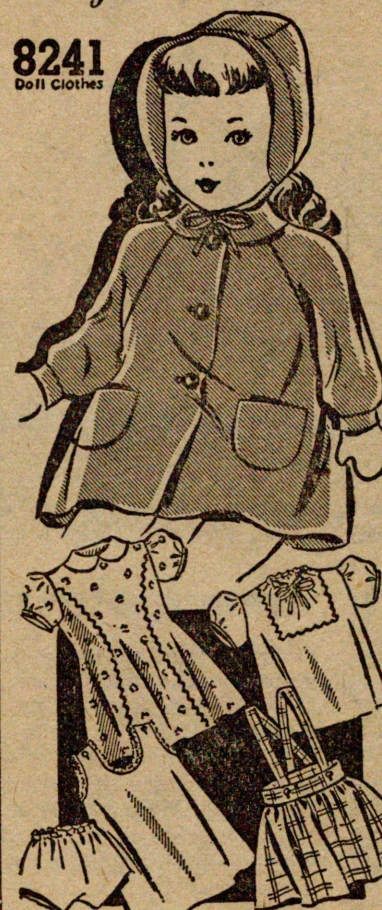

How happy we shall be if after the study of this lesson we go out to do with all our might what our hands find to do.

Attacked, Imprisoned
Because of Whiskers

Between 1830 and 1840 in Fitchburg, Mass., a Joseph Palmer was the target of the strangest persecution in American history, says Collier's. Because he wore a beard against the protestations of the townsfolk, he was snubbed by his friends, sneered at by the tradespeople, stoned repeatedly by small boys and finally attacked by four men who attempted to cut off his whiskers by force.

Palmer put up a stiff resistance and finally escaped unharmed, only to be arrested later for fighting. When brought to trial, he was found guilty, but as he refused to pay his fine was sentenced to prison for more than a year.

If you're stuck for Christmas gift ideas—consider giving smokers on your list, either of these two popular gift items that dealers are featuring now! Flavorful Camel cigarettes or mild, mellow Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco. With these gifts you're sure to please—more people are smoking Camels than ever before, and more pipes smoke P. A. than any other tobacco! Besides, they mean a minimum of fuss or bother for you—they come all ready gift-wrapped. The Camel carton is colorfully dressed for the occasion, containing 200 mild, cool flavorful cigarettes. And Prince Albert for Christmas giving is offered in the popular full pound container. Even a gift card is unnecessary—for both Camels and Prince Albert have space for cheery Christmas greetings. And wait till you see what a hit your gifts will make—you'll feel jolly as St. Nick himself.—Adv.

For Quick Cough
Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it. It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

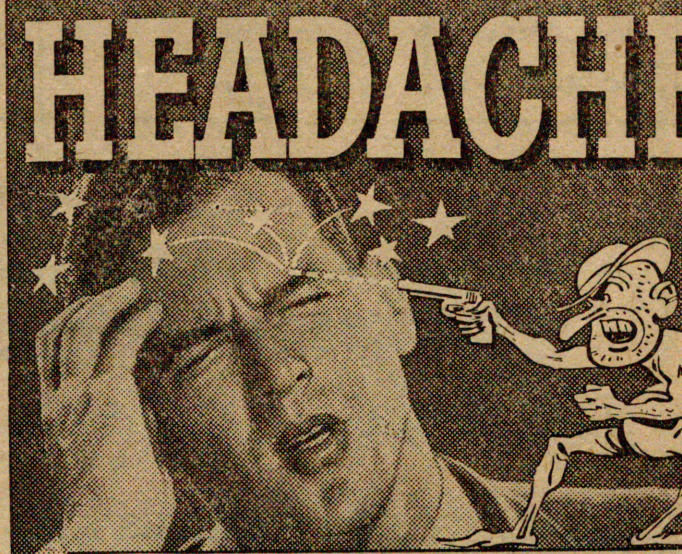

Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

And you'll say it's truly excellent, for quick action. You can feel it take hold swiftly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it eases breathing, and lets you sleep. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Pinex Is Quick Acting!

NEWS that makes folks
sleep all night!

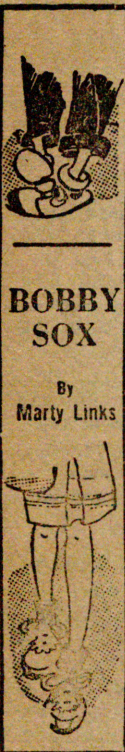

Thousands now sleep undisturbed because of the news that their being awakened night after night might be from bladder irritation, not the kidneys. Let's hope not! That's a condition Foley Pills usually allay within 24 hours. Since bladder irritation is so prevalent and Foley Pills so potent, Foley Pills must benefit you within 24 hours or DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK. Make 24-hour test. Get Foley Pills from druggist. AROUND THE HOUSE

Tarnished gold embroidery can be cleaned with pulverized burnt alum.

Slide-fasteners on garments to be laundered should be closed before washing.

Wash picture glass with a chambray wrung out of warm water. This prevents the water from running down through the frame and back of picture.

A lawn mower can easily be used as a conveyance. Try using it to move an incinerator from spot to spot in leaf-burning time. Or use it to carry out heavy ash cans. A small steel or wooden rack built on the topside will make it usable for many little jobs around the home. Fitted with a box, it can take the place of a wheelbarrow.

A cake containing one cup of flour fills an eight-inch round pan and a cake containing one and one-half cups of flour requires a nine-inch pan.

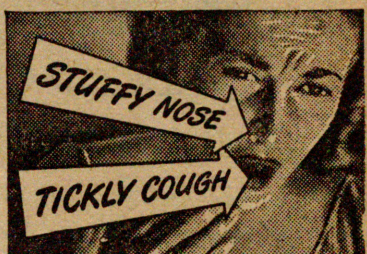

Maple sugar has about the same sweetening properties as ordinary sugar.

Wooden handles are preferable to bone for kitchen knives as bone has a tendency to chip.

A hammer, screw driver and a pair of pliers will find many uses in the kitchen. Keep these tools in a drawer along with the usual kitchen implements.

China or pottery should never be scoured. Hard rubbing causes the color or glaze to fade and damages the smooth finish.

Use old pillow cases to cover dresses in the clothes closet. Make a slit in the closed end and draw pillow case over the garment on the hanger.

Utility Head Wins Service Citation

Britton I. Budd, president of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and chairman of the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Service council during the war, last week was awarded the distinguished service medal of the American Legion, the legion's highest award.

The presentation was made by William P. Kleuskens, past commander, department of Illinois, before office associates and a committee of legionnaires at 72 West Adams street, Chicago. The utility executive was cited for his work as chairman of the council, which gave free aid to over 150,000 Illinois soldiers and sailors during World War II and for "loyal cooperation in the promotion of a program for the betterment of the community, the state, and the nation."

Heights Gets Joliet Manager

E. B. Millner, superintendent of the Joliet district for the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois during the past four years, has been named district superintendent for the Chicago Heights area and Herbert W. Carnright has been appointed to succeed Mr. Millner, according to announcement last week by George G. Bailey, southern division vice president of the utility. He has been associated with Public Service since his graduation from the University of Illinois in 1927 and, before coming to Joliet in 1943, he served for five years as district superintendent at Streator. From 1936 to 1938 he was superintendent at Blue Island, prior to which he filled important assignments in the company's operating and sales departments in Harvey and Chicago.

Mr. Carnright, now a special assistant in the company's western division headquarters at Maywood, comes to Joliet with a background of 25 years' experience with Public Service. Starting as a groundman in the line department in 1922, he has served successively in customer's service, sales, advertising, and industrial relations.

'Farm Family' Vote Deadline Near

Will county farm families have been reminded that the deadline is near for nominating a neighbor couple as the "Farm Family of the Year."

Wayne Churchill, farm adviser, and Mrs. Clarence Castle, home adviser, pointed out that the deadline for nominations is December 15. At that time a county committee will go over all nominations, selecting a county award winner as well as a first alternate and a second alternate. A state committee will then be asked to approve the county selections.

Nomination blanks, it was stated, and directions for making nominations, can be obtained from either the Farm Bureau or Home Bureau offices. Any farm family in the county will be eligible for nomination, provided they are living on and operating a farm from which their major income is obtained.

The "Farm Family of the Year" project is sponsored by the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio railroad in cooperation with the University of Illinois college of agriculture and agricultural extension service. The purpose of the project is to recognize farm families who have made outstanding contributions to more satisfactory farm living. The project is sponsored in the 29 Illinois counties served by the railroad.

The farm family selected in each county will receive a recreational and educational tour of the deep South.

Notice Of

Oregon has more standing timber within its boundaries than any other state, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Its timber amounts to 483 billion board feet, or nearly one-fifth of the supply of the whole United States. Almost half of Oregon's standing timber is within the 13 national forests of the state.

The only reason for avoiding oysters during the months without an "R" is that these are the summer months when oysters are usually of poor quality because of the great expenditure of body material in breeding. According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, fat oysters coming from pure water may be eaten at any season without danger to human health.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Marry Young?Marry Old?

When Jeb Crowell's daughter, Sue, married nineteen-year-old "Slim" Blake, a lot of folks (especially older ones) began to shake their heads. Young marriages! Tut, tut!

So I looked up some figures. It's true, young American girls and boys marry younger than in other countries. And where do you suppose they had the least chance? I won't name it, but maybe you've guessed. One of those countries that before the war suppressed all individual freedom and tolerance.

That's why I'm not worried about our younger married couples. They were raised in a country that respects one another's right—a country of tolerance and temperance (a lot of bridegrooms are ex-G.I.'s, and it looked to me like their favorite beverage was beer!)

From where I sit, it isn't when you marry that's important. It's the all-important spirit of tolerance and understanding that you bring to marriage.

Contrary to popular belief, migrating birds do not fly at great altitudes. According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, most migrant birds travel at less than 3,000 feet above the earth, and it is unusual to find them above 5,000 feet. In many instances birds pass at very moderate altitudes, particularly above the sea, where they may rarely clear the waves.
